

Lost in the jungle of technology?

I translate for them the technical jargon of the manufacturers and help them with the operation of hard- or software. A caring, patient and honest working relationship is the foundation. I have outstanding references and offer affordable flat rates. Call (079 836 32 95), write (sos@e-safari.ch) or visit the official website (www.e-safari.ch) and book a safari through the jungle of technology!

Together we study manuals, learn the basics and solve problems. In addition, I help with new purchases, provide assistance in setting up equipment and assist in the use of selected functions. The offer is based on a consulting service and includes practical help. This includes, but is not limited to, the following services:

- Stabilize PC or Mac (updates & co.) and troubleshoot issues.
- Manage iTunes (digitize CDs, LPs) and clean up music library
- Install software (Windows, Office, Norton, Acrobat & Co.)
- Ask sense question (which equipment do I need at all?)
- Configure e-mail, internet, user account and firewall
- Make individual consultations (also by phone)
- Set up computer, iPad, smartphone, TV or game console
- Compare products (performance, energy efficiency, service, prices)
- Dismantle, upgrade, wire, test and maintain devices
- Edit photos or videos, design documents, and write letters

E-Safari.ch

New! Multimedia training for beginners and seniors

The content and scope of each lesson is open. In personal training sessions we practice relevant procedures: operating a computer, game console or iPad, searching information on the World Wide Web, writing e-mails, creating documents in Word, sending electronic mail, downloading photos and videos, paying e-bills, doing simple image editing, creating digital music archives, installing programs (apps)...